If they had had comet. The guests were numerous and but they did not expect to need them the occasion one of the most festive as they haven't been accustomed to since the Country Club began its career making the circuits often this season in that beautiful valley of the Nuuanu,

In order to properly prepare for such discouraging. an evening the Country Club held a golf tournament during the afternoon. The day was splended for golfing and a score, minus one, of players rambled and gamboled over the links and ran up some wonderful records. J. J. Belser took the first honors, his net score being 79, his hardicap being 27. When the players learned the result they muttered something about cutting down Jack's handicap, for he is forging to the front as a good sticker. Wm. Woon came second with 83, Harry Gray third with 85, Charles Weight fourth with 86, while Doctor Monsar rat trailed along at the tail of the cometty process on with 111. In order to get their eyes focused for the evening's display of comet, H. H. Walker, Cushman Carter and Frank Armstrong quit before the course was completed and are placed in the "unfinished" by twos and groups and the clubhouse became lively. Shortly after seven o'clock the cornet head was visible and then a faint vapory tail was observed, but before it assumed any degree of opaqueness the comet head disappeared beyond the mountain tops, the tail faded away in the moonlight and the guests withdrew their attention to partake of the excellent chowder supper. Kings of Kala

Mr. Dougherty, in opening the program, told of the good musical things to come and turned over the assemblage to M. F. Prosser as toastmaster. Mr. Prosser made a witty speech in introducing himself and called upon W. H. McInerny to introduce the club to the guests. Mr. McInerny, in an able impromptu effort, referred to the progress of the club and of proposed additions to the clubhouse and the taking in in fee simple of the large tract of land over which the golfers now play. He expressed the opinion that the club would some day be possessed of property which would make it the finest cinb in the land.

The toastmaster called also upon Major Dunning, E. S. A., to say something about the army. The major was in a happy mood in his remarks, and Highs. 0 0 0 0 3 1 0 0 0- 4 expressed the opinion that army officers all felt that Honolulu was the finest place in which to be stationed.

The program was one long, enjoyable string of musical selections, vocal and instrumental, to which the Knai Glee Club, Wm. Kerr, Chris Jenkins, Henry Clark, Carlos Caceres, Clarence Water man, J. F. Swadling, Kani Glee Club Doctor Cowes, Mr. Edmunds, Ernest Kaai, James Fenwick, James Dougherty and the Quaker City Quartet coutributed. Some of the songs were reto the country." Later in the evening the McRae company members sent reppromptu program immensely.
